

COVID-19 MARSHAL TRAINING FOR THE MEAT INDUSTRY

COVID-19 Marshals at meat processing plants have an important role to play in keeping their essential workforces safe and ensuring compliance with their COVID-Safe Plans. Enrol in AMPC's COVID-19 Marshal training today.

- ✓ Course content is consistent with Victorian State requirements and is suitable for use across all other States.
- ✓ Content is specific to the Australian meat processing industry.
- ✓ Quiz-based online interactive learning with links to key resources and ongoing support.
- ✓ Register up to 3 employees per AMPC member to be eligible for free access. Additional registrations will incur a nominal fee.

ENROL TODAY

Training specifically for the red meat industry

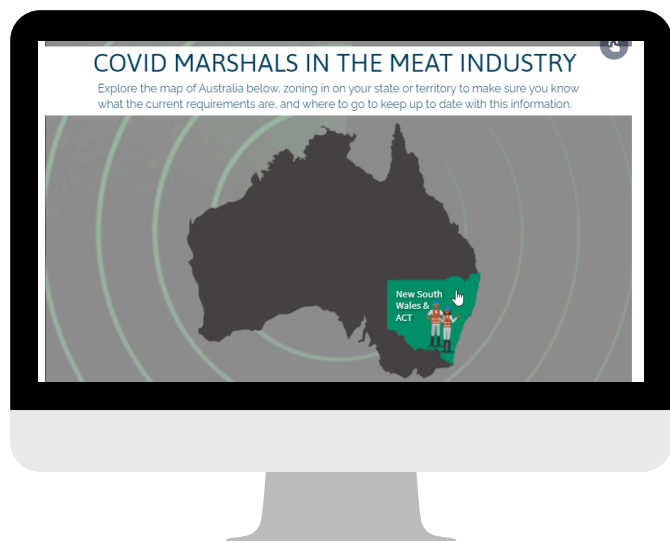

The meat processing industry has been designated a high-risk industry and as such plants must demonstrate that they have appropriate protocols in place, in the event of a COVID-19 outbreak at their facility. Current State-based training programs are generic in nature and do not consider the intricacies of the food production industry, specifically red meat processing.

AMPC's COVID-19 Marshal training, delivered in collaboration with Respond Global and Response Group, includes specific examples of operational procedures as they relate to meat processing plants, assisting in better learning outcomes for participants.

At the end of the course, participants will have a firm understanding of how to support their plant's COVID-Safe Plan and be empowered to assist all employees in the continuing practical implementation of important COVID-19 mitigation measures.

COURSE STRUCTURE

Participants who successfully complete the course will receive a Certificate of Completion.

Time to complete is 2-2.5 hours.

About COVID-19:

- What is COVID-19?
- Known Symptoms
- Risk Factors
- Transmission & Prevention
- Impact on Plant Processes
- Knowledge Check

COVID-Safe Plan:

- What is a COVID-Safe Plan?
- COVID-Safe Plan Information
- Knowledge Check

COVID Marshal Steps & Controls:

- The COVID Marshal
- COVID Marshals in the Meat Industry
- COVID Marshal Response
- Steps to a COVID-Safe Workplace
- Implementing the COVID-Safe Plan
- Knowledge Check

HOW TO REGISTER

AMPC members may nominate up to 3 people from each organisation to complete the training. There are no costs involved and learning and technical support are provided. For non-AMPC members a fee of $89 applies. To register for the course please visit <https://bit.ly/2PlcWy9>.

Additional support for plants

The COVID Marshal training is one of a number of AMPC projects that are available to all members:

- Syndicated PIP program to support plants in developing their own infectious disease management plans (available now),
- Online staff training and display materials (available June 2021),
- Two new units of competency as part of the Business Continuity Planning course (available July 2021),
- A nationally supported industry-wide infectious disease management plan (March 2022).

FIND OUT MORE

If you would like further information please contact either your AMPC Co-Innovation Manager or Amanda Carter, AMPC People & Culture Program Manager at a.carter@ampc.com.au or 0429 658 124.